

Ecclesiastical Declaration of Exemption from Property Taxation

I, jonathan-daniel: clements, as lawful steward and beneficiary of the Ecclesiastical Sovereign Living Trust, do hereby declare all lands, dwellings, holdings, and property under this trust to be private, sacred, and exempt from taxation or levy by any civil authority.

No taxes, assessments, or seizures shall be recognized.

All property held in trust:

- Exists for sacred purpose and private use
- Is not subject to registration, appraisal, or public valuation
- Is protected by divine and ecclesiastical jurisdiction

Sealed in private ecclesiastical authority. No witness required.

Ecclesiastical Claim of Rights to Sacred Inheritance and Ancestral Lineage

Let it be known that I, jonathan-daniel: clements, hereby declare and claim all sacred rights, gifts, covenants, and inheritance passed to me through divine bloodline and ancestral lineage.

This claim includes:

- Spiritual legacy, sacred knowledge, and divine instruction
- Landed rights, tribal customs, and indigenous memory
- Sacred obligation to preserve and transmit rightful inheritance

This claim is held in trust, outside public record, and immune to foreign adjudication.

Sealed in private ecclesiastical authority. No witness required.

Ecclesiastical Declaration of Immunity from Licensing and Permitting

I, jonathan-daniel: clements, do hereby affirm that as a living man and ecclesiastical officeholder, I require no license, permit, registration, or external validation to engage in private living, trade, transportation, assembly, or construction on land under ecclesiastical stewardship.

All trust activity is:

- Lawful and immune from civil enforcement
- Protected from interference or penalty due to lack of license
- Governed exclusively by divine law and private authority

All unlawful attempts to enforce licensing are hereby rebutted.

Sealed in private ecclesiastical authority. No witness required.
